Studying communication deadlocks in real-life multithreaded Java applications

Pallavi Joshi, Mayur Naik, Koushik Sen

- Communication deadlocks are a common cause of failure in multithreaded programs
- Goal: Study different communication deadlocks in real-life software and see if they can be summarized by a small set of patterns
- Results: Work in preliminary stages; have found some patterns